

ABSTRACT

A method for robust time domain block decoding is disclosed. In one embodiment, the method includes receiving a block of transform domain coefficients, detecting errors in one or more transform domain coefficients,
5 decoding pixel values from the transform domain coefficients, determining a first estimate for each erroneous pixel value, and updating the decoded pixel values.

09/24/40 112800